EFFTRONICS: IN 1985 with collaboration of two persons and the first product for this organisation is single colour LED display board after they introduce so many product like multicolour LED display board etc.

➤ Smart Cities:

In smart cities LED's are used.

In LED there is RGB colours.

In can be done by using different light techniques.

These LED's can be used in Railway signalling.

The initial stage of smart cities LED's are 60v.

These smart LED's save the 1/10 part and they saves the voltage and make to 5v.

➤ LENS operation on LED's and angle operation.

There are some applications like Two way switches and They can be operate one switch to operating many LED's.

IOT: IOT means interconnections of physical and visual objects.

➤ Applications of IOT

IOT system is used in Ambulance system when there is any call from patient the call connect to all server's of the ambulance where the patient call is near to ambulance that ambulance go to that patient.

➤ Smart Signalling:

Smart signalling can be used in many ways:

1. Railway signalling: In railway signalling smart cities can be used to communicate between two stations. They done operations between stations also mean block part.

2. Types of signalling:

Automatic signalling: In this signalling the signal will pass by itself.

Manual signalling: In this signalling the signal will pass by operators.

3 .By smart signalling we have to set the tracks easily.

➤ Smart building:

In smart building there is some products like 3D printer.

3D printer: 3D printer means soft engineering program or process change theoretical to practical.

It has cost estimation which is correct for the production there is some optimum production of products into the market.

IOT also used in apps like OLA , UBER .

IOT also used in upcoming experiments like tesla.

IOT used in customer oriented services.

Food deliveries

Travelling services

These IOT has sensor application is used to develop the idea for research to give a proper result.

In IOT some updated technologies for developing applications for the market to get good profit.

Report on Industry tour of VTTPS

The Department of Physics organized an industrial tour to Dr. Narla Tatarao Thermal Station (NTTTS) on 5-09-2022, Ibrahimpatnam. The visiting team is comprised of 25 s discipline students including faculty members. The main goal of this tour is visualize the machinery and their working based on the principles of Physics. After the verification of y all the students are allowed to visit the different areas and working of machinery over The following areas are covered during visit e students visited the coal dumping yard which is source for the power production. The coal is ted from the various states by railway wagons were dumped here. The deployment of coal by a yer system was explained by the concerned officials. The controlling and monitoring of the yer belts was explained to the students.

DUMPING YARD

NDING SYSTEMS AND MOTORS

coal was deployed to the grinding system to make coal crystal in to 20mm grains. The process was : by heavy rotating motors. The fine powder is deployed to the burners and boilers maintained at high erature.

TLERS OR BURNING SYSTEM

: coal powder is burnt at very high temperature can be observed through windows of the tower. This perature is used to evaporate the water passing through the channels. The steam produced in the essage can be utilized to rotate the induction motor or turbines in the corresponding unit.

OWER MONITERING AND CONTROLING UNIT

is unit continuously monitors the power generated in the corresponding unit. From this center we serve the amount power generated per hour. The parameters like frequency, amplitude, wattage and age can be visualized.

COOLING UNIT

he steam which was used to rotate the large turbines was give to the cooling tower through large pipes. he continuous flow of water can cools the steam at high temperature. As a result the steam once again onverts into water. This water is again release into the nearby river.

he technical people of the power station were allowed our students to freely interact and to clarify their doubts.
